The wisdom of urging the voters of the Southern States to cast their suffrages for John Bell, is now established to a demonstration. And the importance of thoroughly canvassing the whole State when important issues are involved in the result, has, also, been exemplified. In no county, where there was an active canvass, by the friends of the Union, has Mr. Bell failed to cut down the Democratic majority. I can almost mark the footprints in the election returns of Pendleton, Baldwin, Stuart, Janney, Johnson, Botts, Summers, Staples, and other noble and gallant spirits, who deserve well of their country, and whose eloquence and arguments have contributed to save the State from, (I hope) disunion, with all its attendant evils. All hail to the gallant champions of the Union cause in every county. They failed, it is true, in securing the election of Bell, but they succeeded in rallying the friends of the Constitution and the Union, and thus, I firmly believe, in saving both. The Union press, too, has done good service, and ought to be remembered and encouraged for the faithful man-Ber in which it has discharged its arduous duty. I wish that every voter in the State could have the reading, at least once a week, or oftener, of some of our good Union pa-

My object, however, is to suggest to my countrymen to be calm in the great crisis, which is upon us, and endeavor to inform themselves fully of the wisdom, as well as the probable effect, of every step they may take. Let them remember, that while the Black Republican party have secured the election of the nominee of their party, there is reason to believe, that he will not administer the government to the satisfaction of Lovojov, Sumner & Co. In his campaign with Judge Douglas, he avowed himself an advocate of a faithful execution of the Fugilive Slave law. Soon after his nomination, he affirmed to a gentleman that he was untrammelled, and free from pledges to all factions and cliques, and that he intended to remain so-in order that he might, should he be elected, go into the Presidential chair free and independent of all pledges, &c. When he was in Congress, he voted emphatically against interfering with slavery in the District of Columbia. Let these facts be borne in mind, and suffer not the threats and taunts of Northern fanatics to weigh one grain with us, for "their joy may soon be turned to mourning." At all events, let us not be ruffled by them, but-"Be still!

What! are we yet so wild of will, After high deeds and sufferings long, To chafe us, for a menial's song?"

Especially, should the people be calm, (we don't expect disappointed politicians to be,) since they have the Republican President and party under their control. Having an opposition majority in Congress-in both houses - MR. LINCOLN CAN NOT FORM A CABINET EVEN WHICH SUALL NOT BE EXACTLY TO OUR LIKING! Mark that!! He cannot appoint a Foreign Minister, a Custom-house officer, or any important functionary, who is distasteful to the South !!! My countrymen, he is under your control. But a word to the Cotton States. Suppose brothers, you secede, then you will have all the South at the mercy of the Black Republicans, who will infest the capitol. Now, we ask you as brethren, not to do it, but stand by us. Don't desert us, in this, our time of need, for we have every reason to believe, it is for our honor, more than your own, that you desire to secede! Let us hold together, and refuse to suffer Wilson, Sumner, Seward, Lovejoy, Hickman, or any Helperite, especially Greely, to be appointed to any important office ! Let the South remain firm to the Union, and we will crush out the hungry horde of Republicans in six months. Once morebe firm and true to the Union. OLD HANOVER.

Monetary. There is an increase in the disposition among capitalists, from day to day, to pause in their operations as a matter of precaution in view of the still rising tide of politico-financial excitement at in case of things coming to the worst between the North and the South, and hence there is a great indisposition to discount on the part of the banks as well as individuals. Contraction is the order of the day, both among figureiers and merchants .-Trade receives a sudden check, and from the fact that Eastern exchange, which was ten days ago in demand in this market, is now a drug and below par, it is evident that Baltimore is not greatly indebted just now to New York, and that our merchants are not buying thence to any considerable extent at present. Specie is now being drawn from New York to this city, and New York and Philadelphia exchange is heavy at 1 10(a) 1-5 discount. The notes of Southern Banks are quoted by the brokers as before, but for South Carolina there was yesterday little or no sale. Some few purchases were made at 11, and afterwards declined. A bill has passed one branch of the South Carolina Legislature suspending the operation of the act which requires the banks of that State to have one third of gold and silver in their vaults to two-thirds of their issues, and will doubtless as promptly pass the other house. This, of course, ueans nothing less than a suspension of specie payments, should the banks at any time deem it necesssary to resort to that measure. The following were the rates of discount and ex change in this market yesterday: Maryland county money ... 1@4 Virginia...... 2(a) 16011 North Carolina. Virginia checks are bought at $(@1 per cent.-

Corn declining tendeney and nominal; mixed 68(669c. Pork heavy; mess $19.12@$19.25. Whiskey dull at 201c .-Stocks lower, and a panic has seized the market

The New York Herald says that the week ending last Saturday witnessed a pretty general curtailment of business in that city, in consequence of the prevailing political anxieties, and adds: "The custom house figures do not convey any idea of the movement that is proceeding among merchants. Every one seems impressed with the idea, that whatever comes of the present Southern imbroglio, business is irreparably injured and the prospects of the spring trade, which were so brilliant amonth ago, are very gloomy indeed. No merchant of prudence will order large consignment's of spring goods under present circumstances; it will be well indeed if the houses engaged in the Southern trade can weather the storm as it is. Not a few Southern houses will act upon the suggestion of portunity of repudiating their debts."

New York, November 13 .- The receipts of flour and grain at this port to day foot up as follows: Flour, 24,158 barrels; wheat, 141,000 bushels; corn, 35,123 bushels.

5.402 Bell's gain in 144 counties. Doubtful.

The following nine counties remain to be heard from: Braxton, Clay, Logan, Mercer, Raleigh, Tucker, Wayne, Webster and Wyoming. These counties gave Letcher a majority of 69 votes.

RICHMOND, Nov. 13 .- We have the following additional returns from the State .-Fayette gives 142 majority for Bell; Giles 157 for Bell and Craig 210 majority for Breekinridge. | We have placed the gains in the table above. The Richmond Enquirer of yesterday says: "The vote of the whole State, with the exception of nineteen counties, stands:

Breekinridge......55,97 Breckinridge's majority...... 294 With nineteen counties to hear from. These counties voted last year as follows:

741 1.035 Breekinridge's majority..... allowing that the vote recently east will be similar to that cast last year. But with the defection of the Douglas vote, and the loss which the Democracy have thereby sustained, no one now believes that Breckinridge's majority in Virginia will go beyond 1,000. We should not be surprised to see it much below that amount." The Whig says:-"As the figures now stand, Breckinridge leads Bell 30, and the thirteen counties to be heard from gave Letcher 631. The chances thus seen to be in favor of Breckinridge, but in the counties not heard from, considerable gains for Bell are expected, and we are now inclined to believe that the result can only be definitely ascertained from the official returns. We have the following reports not embraced in the table: Bell's majority in Cabell 100, and in Braxton and Clay 75; and Breckinridge's majority in Calhoun 300."

The Lynchburg Virginian says: - "Virginia still remains in doubt. We hear of considerable gains for Bell in Patrick county, The vote is evidently so close that it is impossible to form any opinion until the official returns are received."

CIRCUIT COURT-SECOND DAY .- The Circuit Court, Judgo John W. Tyler, opened the second day of its Fall Term for this county at the Court House, vesterday morning at 10 o'clock.

The case of the Commonwealth vs Steinock for uttering &c., counterfeit money was taken up. The Attorney for the Commonwealth appeared for the prosecution, and Geo. W. Brent, esq., for the defence. The Counsel for defence moved to quash

the indictment, because it alleged in the conjunctive, offences described by the statute disjunctively, and because it failed to set forth the name of the party upon whom the attempt to pass counterfeit money was

The Attorney for the Commonwealth contended that where two offences were similar in purport and punishment, they might be alleged conjunctively in the indictment, although stated disjunctively in the statute .--He further argued that, one of the provisions Code rendered it unnecess forth the name of the party on whom it was attempted to perpetrate a fraud. The Court thought the indictment sufficient, and overruled the motion to quash. The prisoner was then placed in the bar, and plead "not guilty."

The following jury was then empanneled. Jno. Eveleth, R. J. Edelin, A. H. Fuschel. M. M. Mankin, Thos. Whittington, C. W. Alexander, T. A. Brewis, R. W. Robinson, G. D. Jelliff, Jas. T. Close, Jno. T. Young, A. Murray.

The evidence in the case was then submitted to the Jury. If presented in substance the same facts which were shown at the Mayor's Court, and reported for the Ga- | $1.25. gette some time since. After remaining out some time the Jury came in, and returned a verdict "not guilty. The prisoner was accordingly discharged. The Court then took up the civil docket, which was called over, and then adjourned.

THE STEAMBOAT COLLISION .- Our readers will recollect that last week a collision occurred on the river between the steamboat George Page and the small tug-boat Belle Haven, during which a child fell overboard and was drowned. On Monday the case came up on a crim nal prosecution, and Captains Gedney and Dukes were on trial before Justice Donn. The first witness called was John Brown. who testified that when on the Page, below the arsenal, he saw the Belle Haven coming an: heard the whistle blow from both boats. The Page stopped; the tug stopped also, and started again, when she struck the Page .--Saw no efforts from either boat to see what damage was done. There was room to pass when the collision took place. A child was thrown from the heat overboard and drowned. The Page was on the larboard side; the captain told him at the time that he had backed the engine and got aground again. They were two or three hundred feet apart when the Page stopped. Edward Taylor testified that the boats collided while he was in the cabin of the caual boat getting the children out; the cabin was torn entirely off, and part of the rudder lost; the l'elle Haven was running towards the arsenal; the Page was out towards the "flats;" cannot say whether the Page slackened her speed or not; heard the whistle blow. George T. Whittington testified that he did not see the collision. J. Restine testified that he saw the Page coming down; she had slackened her speed. Thinks that if the Page had been ordered to back from the time she sounded her whistle.

the collision would not have occurred. Mr. Lehman was engineer of the Belle Haven: towed up a canal boat; don't know whether or not he was in the middle of the FORGERY .-- On Monday evening last, a man who pretended to be the captain of a coal vessel, passed off a check to Charles Elliott, proprietor of the Bowling Alley on Water street near Queen-purporting to be a check of Mr. D. R. Wilson, on the Bank of the Old Dominion, for $128. It turned out that the check was a forgery. The officers made diligent search for the individual who perpe trated the the forgery, but he had absconded. During Monday a stranger entered the Bank of the Old Dominion, and took from the usual hook, one of the printed cheeks of the 140 engravings, price 25c. Just published and for bank. It was one of these checks on which the forgery was perpetrated.

Commissioner of Sale

The above declaration being established by the testimony of hundreds of the best judges in the land who have tested their merits by actual experiment, I will venture to state two very valid reasons why you should buy of me, in preference even to buying or ordering from the factory, as I have yet to hear of the first complaint of any defect in any Piano sold by me during the six years I have been in the business. In the first place, then, I will sell at precisely the same prices charged at the factory, and thus you save freight, insurance, and commissions for receiving and forwarding.

In the second place, you leave in one of your

Virginia towns the small profit I make upon the sale, and to that amount, at least, you contribute ter the accursed Union.
